National Grid is providing $1.9 million in economic development grants to support several area projects.

Thermo Fisher is receiving a $500,000 grant to support a $76 million expansion of its facility on Grand Island. The funds will help offset costs associated with utility infrastructure upgrades.

The other projects receiving grants are:

- $375,000 to the Westminster Economic Development Initiative, to support the new West Side Bazaar and converting a vacant Bailey Avenue house into office space.
 - $300,000 for a distribution center developed by Uniland in the Renaissance Commerce Park in Lackawanna.
 - $281,000 for a new warehouse developed by Sonwil in the Buffalo Lakeside Commerce Park.
 - $111,000 for Pine Pharmaceuticals' expansion in the Town of Tonawanda.
